International Organ Festival
“Città di Bergamo”
September 30 - October 28
The Festival history

The International Organ Festival “Città di Bergamo” was born at the beginning of the Nineties as a gamble among friends. Convinced of the need to bring to the town an international top circuit of concerts, especially considering the quality and variety of its organs, in 1992 the association Vecchia Bergamo organized a ‘test’ concert. Jean Guillou, one of the most famous contemporary players in the world and titular of the great organs at St. Eustache in Paris, was invited with a special mission: to introduce the improvisation on themes given by the audience in his program. As a matter of fact, this art which is considered as a fundamental pillar by all northern European organ Schools had practically disappeared from the Italian churches in the last fifty years. The clear goal was to show and consequently to measure the reactions of the public, on how much the interpreter’s capability in communicating his own unique feeling is of basic importance to create a larger popular interest around organ music, which up to that time was considered a specialists’ niche.

The success was so great and enthusiastic that the year after the International Organ Festival started officially on the big Serassi organ at S. Alessandro della Croce in Pignolo: a perfect instrument, just restored, for portraying a wide range of music and, at the same time, for representing worthily the important organ builders’ tradition of our land.

The guidelines and contents of the Festival were, and still are, the following: to focalize on the real actor of the event - the interpreter - with his skill in guiding the audience through emotions and spirituality; to systematically spread the improvisation, an art where the personality and ability of the player are joined in an unrepeatable moment, revealing the real soul of the musician; to invite top international artists, particularly those who are engaged in teaching plans or recording projects of well known interest; to introduce a young organist, winner of an important International Competition held the year before; to explore, with no inhibitions or limits, all the organ literatures, including contemporary music, and promoting forgotten or unknown composers. A key point of the immediate Festival success has been its strong didactic approach: we prepare for each concert detailed ‘guides for listening’, not the usual list of birth dates, names, places and so on, but a real explanation of the structures of the played pieces, their styles, and the historical links among them.

Few years later, in 1997, the municipality of Bergamo asked Vecchia Bergamo to expand the International Organ Festival to the whole town, donating the title “City of Bergamo”.
Four churches among the most representative ones were selected for the qualities of the organs there preserved: Basilica of Santa Maria Maggiore, Cathedral, S.Alessandro della Croce church, S.Maria Immacolata delle Grazie church. The reason of these choices is easy to understand: the characteristics of the instruments are very different but complementary. They are the highest artistic expression in the town of four different Italian firms: two of them, ancient, with mechanical action and pipes from the XVIII century, are manufactured by the families Serassi and Bossi, historical rivals in Bergamo; the other two, modern, with electrical action, by Vegezzi Bossi and Balbiani, represent the only sample in the town of the Romantic Organ (S.Maria Maggiore) and of the Caecilian Organ (Grazie).

Since 2004, the oldest organ of the city - a little portable one, manufactured by an anonymous in the second part of the XVII century, at the Madonna del Giglio church, just restored - has been added, allowing the Festival to offer more than four centuries of organ music.

Recently other two important instruments are available for the Festival: the renewed Mascioni organ, built in 1906 at Alfredo Piatti Hall in the Conservatory of Bergamo, where particular ensembles or unusual artistic proposals can be happily managed, and the dazzling totally new big Corna organ, installed six years ago in Cathedral, based on a very interesting and original modern project.

This richness and variety of organs attract many foreign players and teachers too, choosing Bergamo as a favourite place for holding visits and master classes with their pupils. In summer 2014 the ‘Gesellschaft der Orgelfreunde’ (Association of the Organ Friends), the biggest one in Europe with more than 6000 members, has visited Bergamo for its annual meeting. In one week we offered to the 196 participants the audit of 33 organs in the city and in the province, 28 dedicated concerts, 4 concerts open to all citizens, 1 masterclass on ancient music, 1 symposium on Bergamo organs history, 1 gala dedicated to a collection of rare harmoniums.

Currently the Organ Festival is one of the most loved and well attended musical attractions in Bergamo. Its reputation is renowned in all Europe, and many foreign tourists often decide to spend a weekend in October for visiting our town due to the organ concerts. This English version of the official brochure has been conceived especially for them, and for all the non-Italian mother-tongue who wish to be introduced into the magic world of Bergamo organs sound.

The XXIV edition

After the extraordinary last season - which in occasion of Expo 2015, among other, has brought in Bergamo the young phenomenal Cameron Carpenter - the Festival does not belie its constant research for novelty, presenting itself at the 24th edition enriched by a new international collaboration.

The association E.C.H.O. (European Cities of Historical Organs) - which brings together nine cities from main European countries known for their commitment to investing in their organ heritage - has invited us to take part in the jury of an international contest for the best organ musical project to involve children, in a captivating way.

The goal of the competition is easily understandable and very important to be reached: it is not only for creating the audience of the future through a friendly approach of the organ and its wide possibility, but for educating the new generations to the beauty, and to the universal message of peace inherent in music. To create a better world, we do not have any other choice than to have better young people.

Among 19 proposals, one won unanimously: a very interesting organ transcription by Ursula Heim of the fascinating symphonic suite “The Carnival of Animals”, by Camille Saint-Saëns, illustrated through a live animated projection of original digital images, expressly created by Jon Wirthner. The staff foresees a cellist and a narrator too. The show is very seductive, poetic and of strong emotional impact. The event enjoys the BergamoScienza Festival cooperation, with which our Festival has been working for many years in the promotion of a scientific and technical approach to a complex instrument as the organ (“The Wonderland Machine”).

We will propose this special event exactly in the middle of the Festival, Friday October 14, in Cathedral, where the largest and colorful organ of the city stays (Corna organ, built in 2010). On a big white light textile curtain placed in front of the audience the phantasmagoric digital animation inspired by the music will be projected.

The evening is thought for children and teenagers, but the content of course is for all. However, to push adults to bring to the church youngsters, the entrance for adults will be allowed only if... accompanied by a child!

From an artistic point of view, the 2016 edition is basically inspired to the European post romantic literature, in particular the German school, seizing the occasion of the death’s centenary of Max Reger.

The quality and reputation of the invited interpreters are the world’s top, with a special look at improvisers, as usual.

We will open the Festival, Friday September 30 in Cathedral, with a living icon like Thomas Trotter, the legendary...
Birmingham city-organist, titular of the parish church of the House of Commons and professor at the Royal College of Music in London, very well known for his dazzling recitals full of spectacular organ transcriptions. Here in Bergamo, for instance, we’ll listen to the Sorcerer’s Apprentice by Paul Dukas and a gorgeous Fantasy on Carmen melodies by Georges Bizet. In his tribute to Reger, he will touch important English coeval authors, rarely played in Italy.

Friday 7, at the church of S. Immacolata delle Grazie, in the concert dedicated to a young winner of an International Competition, finally an Italian talent in improvisation will be hosted, Simone Vebber, who - it so happens - this year has been organ professor at the ‘Gaetano Donizetti’ Conservatory in Bergamo. What a nice opportunity to present him to the whole city! The program alternates improvisations ‘in style’ with some milestones of German authors active in the second part of XIX century, including the magnificent Sonata on Psalm 94 by Julius Reubke, the favorite pupil, died very young, of Franz Liszt.

After the children’s night populated by animated animals, for the fourth appointment, Friday 21, we’ll hear in Bergamo another great improviser, the Dutch Hayo Boerema, struggling with the huge Serassi organ of Sant’ Alessandro della Croce church. The historicity of this marvelous organ has surely suggested the first part of his recital, but did not prevent him to propose an important piece among Liszt’s organ compositions, thus creating, with the concert of Vebber, a nice diptych of the musical ‘humus’ preceding the Reger’s synthesis. Besides a couple of wide improvisations, we will also enjoy a premier for Bergamo, the ‘minimalist’ composer Bert Matter.

The final concert, at Basilica of Santa Maria Maggiore, Friday 28, is that one specifically centered on the figure of Max Reger, an author that our Festival proposed in a systematic way since its first editions, when he was totally forgot, probably also for the transcendental qualities necessary to his interpretation. For the occasion we invited one of the greatest performers and teachers of this author, Ludger Lohmann. One pearl of his beautiful recital is the execution of the Fantasy and Fugue op.135b on the first original manuscript, different to the one deeply modified by Karl Straube, published, and usually played. But it will be really interesting also to listen to Reger’s Cecilian origins, quickly abandoned (Rheinberger), as well as to one contemporary follower (Raphael) of the style of this extraordinary musician, not yet fully valorized.

Fabio Galessi
Is one of Britain’s most widely admired musicians. The excellence of his musicianship is reflected internationally in his musical partnerships. He performs as soloist with, amongst many others, the conductors Sir Simon Rattle, Bernard Haitink, Riccardo Chailly and Sir Charles Mackerras.

He has performed in Berlin’s Philharmonie, the Gewandhaus in Leipzig, the Concertgebouw in Amsterdam, the Musikverein and the Konzerthaus in Vienna and London’s Royal Festival Hall. He has played inaugural concerts in places such as Princeton University Chapel USA, Auckland Town Hall in New Zealand, the Royal Albert Hall London, and Moscow’s International Performing Arts Centre. In May 2002 he was the recipient of the Royal Philharmonic Society award for Best Instrumentalist, the first organist ever to win this award. Thomas Trotter was appointed Birmingham City Organist in 1983 in succession to Sir George Thalben-Ball, and he is also Organist at St. Margaret’s Church, Westminster Abbey and Visiting Fellow in Organ Studies at the Royal Northern College of Music. Earlier in his career he was organ scholar at King’s College Cambridge, winning the First Prize at the St. Albans International Organ Competition in his final year. He also studied under Marie-Claire Alain, winning the Prix de Virtuosité in her class. He received an Honorary Doctorate from Birmingham City University in 2003 and from Birmingham University in 2006. Alongside his regular recitals in Birmingham, at the city’s Symphony Hall and Town Hall, Thomas Trotter tours on four continents and plays at many international festivals. He is an active recording artist, appearing on the Decca, Hyperion, Regent and Chandos labels. Trotter’s recordings of Messiaen and Mozart have been named “Critics Choice” by The Gramophone magazine, and he received a Grand Prix du Disque for his recording of music by Franz Liszt in 1995. He has given the commissioning recital on new or restored organs in places such as Cleveland’s Severance Hall (Ohio), Princeton University Chapel (New Jersey), Cardiff St. David’s Hall, the Amsterdam Concertgebouw, and most recently, the Royal Albert Hall in London, following the extensive refurbishment of the organ by Mander Organs completed in 2005. He was consultant for the new Marcussen organ in Manchester’s Bridgewater Hall and also for the organ in Birmingham’s Symphony Hall.
